

Call out for young creative writers

Have you reconnected with nature more in the last 12 months?

With bars, cafes and other indoor activities closed during the Covid lockdowns have you turned to outdoor spaces to meet with friends?

We are looking to document how young people have connected or reconnected with nature during the pandemic for a new creative writing project called 'WHISPERS FROM THE WOODS', which will create a new nature and poetry trail around Melbourne.

If you are aged 25 or under we would love to hear how interacting with nature has affected you, summed up in just one sentence.

Maybe you've started walking with friends, exercising outdoors, or discovered a quiet place you never knew existed before?

How has engaging with nature made you feel during lockdown? Please share a sentence with us and encourage others to explore the natural world around us.
